AUTO OVERTURNS KILLS MAN

Accident on Napa Road cost James Donahue his life Thursday night.

While James Donahue and wife, ranchers of the Hyde Tract, were returning from the Fruit Growers' Convention at Napa in the machine of Joseph Fernandez Thursday evening, the car overturned as they turned out to pass the basket ball team machine bound for Napa, and Mr. Donahue was killed. He was pinned down under the heavy car and before assistance arrived life was extinct. The Fernandez family and Mrs. Donahue, wife of deceased, miraculously escaped.

Word was sent to Sonoma and Dr. Thomson and undertaker Bates hurried to the scene of the fatality. The remains were brought to town and at the coroner's inquest yesterday morning the vordict of accidental death caused by internal injuries was brought in. Mr. Donahue was the father-in-law of Joe Fernandez the well known orchardist and the car he was driving had recently been purchased from Richard Bosworth.

Ernest Revie, of Sonoma, one of the high school agricultural club winners of California, was a visitor at the big, free exhibit of Southern California products maintained by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce on Broadway. With the 23 others of the party making the transcontinental tour under the auspices of the State University, he was glad to find a warm welcome awaiting him in the Golden State.

The party were breakfasted and given a trip to Van Nuys by the Los Angelss Chamber and were tendered a theater party in the evening. All signed the giant register in the exhibit hall of the Chamber, in which nearly two million names have been inscribed.

Young Revie has arrived home after a wonderful transcontinental trip.

The Flying Needles were hospitably entertained by Mrs. E. T. Casson Wednesday.

The Ladies Aid of the Congregational church meets Tuesday at Mrs. Appleton's home.

The attractive Breitenbach girls have purchased a piano from the Sonoma Valley Music Co.

Taxes are due and will be received by both banks. Call in and attend to this important matter.

WEISE GETS ELECTION CERTIFICATE

Official canvass shows no changes in vote. Evart talks recount.

Harry Weise, who was reelected Supervisor of this district at the election on Nov. 7th, received his certificate of election Thursday from the County Clerk which is the official notification and recognition of the position he is to hold for the next four years. The official canvass of all votes cast at the election was taken up by the Supervisors in session Monday and despite the presence of several watchers during the count, including Gil P. Hall, of Petaluma, who was appearing in behalf of the Democrats and of Wm. Evart, no variations in the original tally were found. A false alarm, relative to the tally sheet in Agua Caliente precinct was easily discredited. It was claimed that five votes cancelled there would have tied the result in the Weise-Evart contest.

Despite the regularity of Mr. Weise's election by a good 5 votes, the defeated candidate from Penn Grove, buoyed up by the encouragement of a local "angel" and still hopeful roadmaster applicants, will no doubt demand a recount. Mr. Weise has been put to endless trouble and expense since holding the office he has so honorably filled for at the beginning of his first term he was subjected to a recall fiasco through the instrumentality of the very enemies who are now "egging" on Mr. Evart to have a recount. The path of the successful politician is not one of roses, although Mr. Harry Weise looks bloomin' well, as the Englishman would say and he is busy now considering some of the changes he contemplates in order to make his appointees more efficient. The recount talk is not worrying either him or his friends.

WEISE THANKS VOTERS

I desire to heartily thank my friends throughout the Supervisorial district for their loyal support and good work in my behalf dering the recent campaign and to assure them that my election has been due to their splendid efforts and that I will do everything I can to show my appreciasion in the service I will give to the district during the next four years.

Respectfully,
J. H. WEISE.

SONOMA BOOSTERS TO ORGANIZE

A call has been issued for a mass meeting with the idea of organizing Sonoma boosters into a civic body and thus put the community in line with other cities who are getting results through well organized promotion bodies. There is no question but that our citizens are alive to the needs of it and it has already been demonstrated that Sonoma Valley has the material for one of the live wire brand of organizations. Neglect of the financial side of collecting dues was all that kept our former efforts from being successful and a plan is to be projected to insure the payment of dues and keep interest continually alive through campaigns for the advancement of our Valley. If you want to see this section go ahead and want to help the good work along, be on hand next Thursday night at the City Hall and show the proper spirit. We shone on the Black Point cut-off effort and we can shine again.

Call for Meeting

Sonoma, Nov. 16, 1916.

Inasmuch as the subject of a new civic organization seems to be interesting many of our citizens at the present time, we, the undersigned, believe it to be for the best interest of our town and vicinity to join in a call for a preliminary meeting to consider the subject.

And we respectfully invite and earnestly request all citizens of Sonoma and vicinity to meet at the Court House on next Thursday evening, at 7.30 p.m., for the purpose of discussing the above subject and taking such action as may be deemed wise and for the best interest of our community.

Chas. McDevitt,
Z. T. Spencer,
A. M. Thompson,
Chas. LaZorres,

HOLIDAY SPIRIT PROMPTS FETE

Community Xmas tree on Plaza and other features being talked of to make town attractive at Xmas tide.

A mass meeting is to be called in the near future to formulate plans for a mammoth community Xmas tree celebration on our plaza and a day of attractive holiday features that will bring the holiday crowds to Sonoma just before Christmas. The churches will not have their customary trees but will lend their efforts to make the community Xmas celebration a joyous day for all children and the bigger folks too. Music and choir numbers will lend charm to the occasion and the shops will be in gala attire all day and the streets resplendent with decorations and amusement features to hold the crowds until nightfall, when the wondrous Xmas tree, fourty feet high, brilliantly lit and with some offering for every child will be the gift of the community of Sonoma. To poor and rich alike it will be a day and night of gladness. The fraternal organizations are taking kindly to the idea and our business men believe it can be worked out in fine style when the committees are appointed and get to work.

In connection with the holiday season announcement, the Index-Tribune wishes to add a line about its big colored Christmas edition which will be issued and will be a valuable reference guide to holiday shoppers for our leading merchants will announce their holiday goods and prices during December. We will also keep you posted about the community Xmas tree and Sonoma's plans to prove that the Valley of the Moon knows how to celebrate the Christmas tide.

WILL CELEBRATE AT FETTERS TONIGHT

There is to be a grand celebration at Fetters toinght on account of the "wet" victory at the polls on the 7th Mrs. Fetters has provided an augmented orchestra for the grand ball and there is to be feasting and general merry-making in which all those who voted to save California's great industry will participate. If you are a "wet" be there, and it is a foregone conclusion that it will be a grand success for it has been widely advertised all over the county by the enterprising proprietors of the popular resort.

One day this week two deer came into the pasture of a well-known Buena Vista rancher just at milking time. They were apparently quite tame.

Lloyd Riser is visiting El Verano friends and will remain for the Y. M. I. ball.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. and James Cowan and Judge Justi motored to the State Fruitgrowers Convention yesterday.

St. Barbara's Guild meets Tuesday at Mrs. Von Hacht's home.

A. Carlson has sold his attractive place at Buena Vista.

The Chauvet—London suit has been submitted on briefs.

The Moose Social club enjoyed a tomale feed Monday night and the boys certainly know how to enjoy life and aim to bring good cheer into the lives of others. They have donated $25 to the Christmas fund and as usual will be active when Santa Claus time comes around. All they need to complete the Christmas plans is the good wishes of Bill Russell whose removal to Michigan has left a void hard to fill.

IN CONTEST FOR LOVLIEST SWISS CHILD

Orietta Nonella

Isn't she a dear! Right from our own Sonoma Valley too, the daughter of Mr and Mrs. G. B Nonella, pioneer Swiss residents of this State.

Let us tell you more about Orietta. She is one of the "Honor Babies" in the campaign, launched by L'Elvezia, the popular Swiss newspaper of San Francisco, to determine the lovliest Swiss child. The votes already piled up for this little girl pass the 300,000 mark and they are just coming in for her from every part of the country. We certainly should be proud if a Sonoma girl is voted the "lovliest Swiss baby in California". Her parents reside between here and Calientn and she is one of a dozen or more fair children.

CLUB BENEFIT PAYS FOR SIDEWALK

The little benefit entertainment made possible by Mr. C. Pommeroy's player piano and the contribution of other talent was productive of much good Wednesday evening and the Womans club more than made enough money to pay for the new cement sidewalk leading up to the clubhouse. The wonderful musical program produced by Mr. Pommeroy was supplemented with vocal solos by M. H. Rowell and Mrs. Ida Hotz while Miss Pommeroy gave two interpretative dances "Destiny" and "In the Garden". Dance music was furnished by the player piano supplemented with the drums under the capable and spirited leadership of Prof. Fred Hansen. Refreshments, cards and fortune telling also added substantially to the evening's entertainment and the receipts were about $30. Mrs. Chas. Cutter and Mrs. Claude Johnson presided over the home made candy booth, Mrs. J. E. Poppe and Mrs. John Wagnon were in charge of the refreshments, Mrs. W. L. Murphy read the cards and Mrs. Ray Hunter was in charge of the program. City marshall Albertson was among those present and treated a number of his friends for the good cause.

SHADOWLAND CHRISTMAS WAS FINANCIAL SUCCESS

The novel entertainment arranged by Mrs. Carrie Burlingame and entitled a Shadowland Christmas was a pronounced financial success the clubhouse being thronged with an appreciative audience last Friday night week and over $130 being the proceeds realized for the Congregational Ladies Aid.

The principals in the attractive and novel pantomine and prelude were Miss Edna Cooper, the beautious queen of Shadowland, Mildred Erickson, Roy Bill, Beth Lane, Mr. McAllister, who got a Christmas heart and was transformed, and the Hunter family besides many clever children. Music was by Mrs. Steckmeyer and Miss Alta Rice.

Over $60 was realized at one of the fancy work stands.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Bish went down to San Francisco Saturday last to take Miss Smith who has been making her home with them to the hospital. The young lady has been suffering with pains in her head

SUNDAY CLOSING FOR SANTA ROSA

Saloonmen accede to suggestions of City Council. Regulation talked of here last night.

The saloons of Santa Rosa have shown a generous spirit to conform with what seems to be public opinion at the county seat in regard to Sunday closing, as a result a conference was called by the City Council and the saloon men there have assented to the Mayor's regulations which read as follows;

—Saloons to close at -11 o'clock p. m. Saturday night and remain closed until Monday norning at 6 a. m.

2—For the accommodation of the automobile traveler and such other patrons, the hotels and restaurants should have the privilege of selling liquors with meals on Sunday. The police department is to use caution and see that restaurants and hotels do not sell liquors except with meals on Sunday.

3—Any saloon, restaurant or hotel that serves liquors to any person or persons who show by their appearance that they have already had too much liquor, or to any person on the blacklist or to minors, will be considered not a proper place, and same will be cause for revocation of the license, the burden of proof to be on the liquor dealer—if he does not know when a person has "too much liquor" he is not a proper person to hold a liquor license.

4—The present restaurant ordinance requires a patron to purchase a bottle of wine, beer or ale. Many people do not want more than a glass of wine, beer or ale with their meals, but will drink more if it is in front of them. In order to promote temperance and sobriety, I think that the restaurant ordinance should be amended so as to permit the patron of the restaurant to buy a glass of wine, beer or ale instead of a bottle, as in the present ordinance.

5—That the Chief of Police be hereby instructed to see that each saloon, hotel and restaurant man in the City of Santa Rosa be furnished with a copy of the laws governing the retail sale of liquor and that any infraction or violation of said laws be promptly reported to the City Council.

6—The above changes to go into effect commencing next Sunday.

MASK BALL AT GLEN ELLEN

The Women of Woodcraft, who are noted for their annual social events, will give a Grand Mask Ball at Fancrazi Auditorium, Glen Ellen, on Saturday evening, Dec. 2. The best of music and attractive prizes for the best sustained and most original characters will make the dance one of the season's most enjoyable affairs. If you contemplate enjoying the winter social gayeties, do not fail to attend this party at Glen Ellen where hospitality reigns supreme.

Married in Arizona

Relatives and friends of Julius Poppe, Jr. here received cards announcing his marriage in Bisbee, Arizona, to Mrs. Lucy Smith Wheeler. Julius is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Poppe of this place. This is his second matrimonial venture and much happiness is wished him by old friend in the valley.

BRAND NEW BABY

The stork called at the Jack Picetti home last evening and left a fine baby girl. Dr. Gobar reports mother and babe doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Manuel have moved into the Valente house on Spain St. The cottage they formerly occupied on Second St. East has been remodeled and renovated by the owner, Chas. Dal Pogetto.

The local saloon men held a conference with the City trustees last night and a discussion of Sunday closing for Sonoma was gone into. The saloon people explained that Sunday was the only day that justified them in paying the license they do.

The trustees declared they were not there to enforce any arbitrary changes on the liquor people but advised them to forestall agitation by living up to the strict letter of the law.

All the local saloon men were present and several addressed the Board.

The Dinner Pail Eventually Will Decide

PERHAPS if we harken back to that phrase "rule or ruin" which was often associated with the disintegration of Republican ranks in California, we will arrive at a more sensible solution as to why California won the sobriquet of "boob state" by giving the country another four years of Woodrow Wilson. It was not a matter of etiquette or social courtesy or diplomacy upon the occasion of Mr. Hughe s visit to this state that threw the weight of our voting strength to the Democrats this year. This incident may have kept leaders and bosses apart and failed to heal personal breaches that might have been overcome but for someone's stubborn refusal to yield a point, but the underlying cause for California's attitude is directly attributable to the non-partisan doctrine preachment and the fierce attacks which have been made for the past six years on the Republican party in this state. The joining of some hands and the back to the fold attitude did not make it right with the rank and file, voters formerly Republican s of indifference who were weaned away by the black pitch with which Progressives besmirched Republicanicm and the full effect of the upheaval showed itself at the polls in the presidential choice on the 7th. California with conservative concern wanted to be on the safe side. If Republicans were rascals they did not want them in power, and distrust has been drummed into them for six years.

Now it must be the lesson of what side their bread is buttered on that will eventually turn the tide of idealism. Meanwhile the progress of the economic and financial destiny of the United States during the next four years will be of intense interest. Let it not be understood that the tide of idealism should be turned and muddy torrents of belligerancy and commercialism deluge the nation but let it be made plain that Wilson's idealism must be of more substance than sentiment, more breadth than personal conviction, more American than humanitarian if this nation is to maintain its prestige else we will find ourselves not only confronted with non-partisanship but non-nationalship—Utopians instead of Americans, idealists instead of patriots. Can Woodrow Wilson put these in the crucible and weld them into a strong nation? The United States have pinned their faith to him. Let every lover of his country lend his efforts to assist him. If we do that and idealism when tested is found wanting, then the pendulum will swing back to protection and other means of return to prosperity, for empty stomachs do not make good soldiers whether for fighting on the heights or in the trenches. The dinner pail will decide during the next four years and here's hoping it will be filled for we all are interested in the dinner pail whether it be an empty tobacco container used for a lunch box or a plate of Haviland china garnished with olives and speaking of olives California is no "boob" state when it comes to growing them.

Eulogy of Wilson Bore Fruit

IN THE light of what has come to pass during the past month in matters political it is most interesting to turn to the Congressional record of June 1916 and to read the address of Hon. Martin H. Glynn of New York, delivered to the Democratic convention at St. Louis. It was a brilliant and compelling appeal and has borne fruit as the following excerpts will attest;

"For two years the world has been afire; the civilation that we know has been torn by the mightiest struggle in its history. Sparks from Europe's confligration have blazed in our own skies, echoes of her strife have sounded at our very doors. That fire still burns, that struggle still continues, but thus far the United States has held the flame at bay; thus far it has saved its people from participation in the conflict.

What the people of the United States must determine through their suffrage is whether the course the country has pursued through this crucial period is to be continued; whether the principles that have been asserted as our national policy shall be indorsed or withdrawn.

This is the paramount issue. No lesser issue must cloud it, no unrelated problems must confuse it."

"Because the President of the United States has asserted these principles and pursued these policies the American people must support him with ardor and with enthusiasm in order that these principles and policies may be known to all the world, not as the opinion of an individual but as the doctrine and faith of a loyal and united Nation."

"And when, a century from now, America's children come to read our history, when at last they learn whether the men of 1916 were as true to America as the men of 1776, we pray God that the history we are about to make may prove an inspiration to their loyalty, that the pages we are about to write may be a spur to their patriotism and that our labors here and in the months to come may have preserved for them a Nation free and proud, an ideal sublime and true, a flag whose stars reflect the changeless majesty of the celestial galaxy itself."

SHALL WE REJECT THE DOCTRINES OF OUR FATHERS?

"One hundred and forty years ago the manhood of America was called upon to decide whether this should be a nation. Half a century Americans were forced to determine whether this should continue to be a nation. To-day the Republic faces a third crisis no less momentous than that of 1776 or that of 1860. To-day Americans must again determine whether their country shall preserve its national ideals, whether it shall have a national soul, whether it shall stand forth as a mighty and undivided force, whether the United States for which Washington fought and for which Lincoln died shall hold its place among the nations."

"Neutrality is the policy which has kept us at peace while Europe has been driving the nails of war through the hands and feet of a crucified humanity. It has banished conquest from our program of national greatness and has made us find our destiny at home. It has forced us to build on the brawn of our sons and the energy of our daughters rather than upon the tears of conquered women and the blood of conquered men. It has made us seek treasure in our harvests, wealth in our fields by staying our hands from war's bloodstained pot of gold. It has been the flaming sword which forbade us to devastate the Eden of others and compelled us to make an Eden of our own. It has freed us from the paralyzing touch of Europe's balance of power, leaving to Europe the things that are Europe's and preserving for America the independence, the peace, and the happiness that now are hers."

"As a result of this policy America stands serene and confident, mighty and proud, a temple of peace and liberty in a world aflame, a sanctuary where the lamp of civilation burns clear and strong, a living, breathing monument to the statesmanship of the great Americans who kept it free from the menace of European war.

NEUTRALITY RIGHTS ASSERTED AND MAINTAINED AS NEVER BEFORE.

Standing here with the eyes of the Nation upon this convention, with the cold light of reason, the piercing shafts of logic streaming upon all that we may say or do, with history as my witness and with fact as my proof that the neutral rights of American citizens have never been so vigorously asserted or so successfully maintained as they have been asserted and maintained by the President of the United States during the present war.

PREPAREDNESS

The genius of this country is for peace. . .Compared with the blood-smeared pages of Europe, our records are almost immaculate. In the making of no other nation has conquest played so small a part. . .Stolen wealth does not fill our coffers or ravished territory swell our domains.

With us war has never been a choice; it has always been a fate. We would like to furl the flags of war and still its throbbing drums; we sigh for the day when men will beat their swords into plowshares, their spears into pruning hooks; but we recognize that the miracle is yet to be performed which perfects human natu re and imbues nations with the spirit to do unto others as they would do unto us.

"To maintain our national honor by peace if we can, by war if we must," is the motto of the President of the United States.

But, say our critics, this policy satisfies no one.

They mean that it does not satisfy those who would map out a new and untried course for this nation to pursue, but they forget it does satisfy those who believe the United States should live up to the principles it has professed for a century and more.

"National honor is not the whim of an individual mind. National honor is the composite sentiment, the composite reason of a whole people feeling he emotions of nature and following the dictates of God."

The citizens of this country will stand behind their President because his policies are right. They will stand behind him because his policies are the policies which have brought the Nation a century of prosperous and honored peace. They will stand behind him because they want these policies continued, that prosperity prolonged, that peace assured.

Yet, over and above every other reason that the Nation may have for upholding its President, is the necessity of proving to the world that we are a united people.

And when the history of these days comes to be written and the children of to-morrow read their Nation's story, when time shall have dispelled all misconception and the years shall have rendered their impartial blackened with the tale of Europe'swar, one name will represent the triumph of American principles over the hosts of darkness and of death.

That name will be the name of the great President who has made Democracy proud that he is a Democrat and made Americans proud that he is an American.

It will be the name of the student and the scholar who has kept his country true to its faith in a time that tried men's souls; the name of the statesman who has championed the cause of American freedom wherever he found it oppressed; the name of the patriot who has implanted his country's flag on the highest peak to which humanity has yet aspired; the name that carried the torch of progress to victory once and will carry it to victory again; the name of Woodrow Wilson, President and President to be."

THE letter published in a Chico paper against Clarence Lea was given to the reform editor there by Mrs. Bidwell who asked him to investigate the charges made against the Congressional nominee by one Bigelow. Mrs. Bidwell writes us that it was not intended for publication before the charges had been substantiated and she is sorry to have been drawn into politics by it. It is not surprising that the noted Chico lady found herself "in wrong" after giving any credence to Sonoma Valley's "boob" politician.

ELECTION BETS

Considerable merriment obtained at the State Home after the election results had been definately announced for there were many interesting wagers made on the outcome of the presidential contest. The winning Democrats arranged a spectacular occasion for the paying of penalties at the big institution. They chose the night of the concert in Assembly Hall Monday when everyone could enjoy the "stunts" which they put over on the avalanched Republicans. One was a wheelbarrow ride in which witty placards were woeful reminders of November 7th, while the joy rider was resplendent with Wilson banners. Another penalty was the rolling of a peanut across the assembly hall and back again with a toothpick. The man paying this penalty bore a sign which read "I voted for Hughes but never again" also a placard which said "I didn't take castor oil" which was a local josh understood only by a few friends of two pretty nurses at the institution whose wager was a dose of castor oil for the loser and they say it was taken by the game Republican nurse who never flinched at the "sanitarium cocktail" and said it was no harder to swallow than Wilson's election.

BOY FARMER ENJOYS TRIP

Tells of Visit to Washington, New York and Baltimore and Points of Interest in Eastern Cities

Washington, D. C.
Nov. 5th, 1916.

Dear Editor Index-Tribune:—

We arrived in New York Oct. 29, and had breakfast at the Hotel Imperial, then went to the Bronx zoological park where we had a fine time. They have many kinds of animals that I have never seen before. We stopped there two or three hours, then went for an auto tour up Fifth avenue. There are some of the largest and prettiest houses I have ever seen. We then drove out Riverside Drive to Grant's tomb where many people were looking around. We drove back through Central park, where the people of New York go on Sunday afternoon, there are many different things to amuse the children. The next day we went to the commission district where we saw California fruit being sold, some of the other boys saw fruit from their home towns.

It was too foggy to go up to the top of the Woolworth building, some of the time the top of the building couldn't be seen for the fog. Then we took a trip down Broadway seeing Trinity church where many soldiers are buried in the church yard. After that we went under the East river on a trolley trip, returning over the Brooklyn bridge. We had many rides on the subways and elevater cars. That evening we went to the Hippodrome theatre which is the largest theatre in the world. We then went to the Metropolitan museum of Art and American museum of Natural History. Many students were there drawing different pictures and statues, it is said that students from all over the world come there to copy paintings of different pictures and statues.

Our next stop was Plainsboro New Jersey where we saw a certified dairy, the barns were cleaned three times a day and some of the cows were milked three times a day because they gave so much milk. They have 800 milk cows and 300 head of young stock, they ship 25,000 quarts of milk a day and get 20 cents a quart, there are 6 silos and every one is filled up every year with corn. They feed alfalfa hay and silage to their cows with some mash. They have 600 acres of alfalfa from which they get four and five crops a year.

Our next stop was Philadelphia where we stopped at the Bellevue-Stratford. The next morning we visited the John Wanamaker store. It is the largest store in the East and sells everything. Next we went to the Curtis Publishing Co. plant where the Ladies Home Journal, Saturday Evening Post and Country Gentleman are published, and then visited Independence Hall where the Declaration of Independence was signed. The room is said to be the same now as it was then. We were all allowed to touch the Liberty Bell which we all did. We then viewed the grave of Benjamin Franklin, after which we were taken for an auto trip to the farms near Philadelphia where the principal crops are corn, grain and dairying.

We left that evening for Baltimore where we registered at the Hotel Emerson which is the best hotel we stopped at on the trip. The next morning we went for a ride around Baltimore and in the afternoon we ...ed the Agricultural school at ...ks, Maryland which Professor ...heron organized and where he ...principal a long time before ...g to California to start the ... Club work. He is the head ...n this trip. At Sparks the ...rnia boys played the Sparks ...a game of basket ball which we ... Sunday Nov. 5th we didn't have anything to do all morning but in the afternoon we went for an auto ride about the city, and at 6:45 we started for Norfolk, Virginia. The moon is shining on the water and the boat is riding smooth, and it is nice and cool. I don't think anyone could ask a nicer trip by boat.

I will close for this time.

Yours respectfully,
Ernest Revie.

Practical Economy

Baking powders made from alum or phosphate may be bought for a trifle less than Royal Baking Powder, which is made from cream of tartar, derived from grapes.

Alum powders are not only cheap, but they differ greatly in leavening power.

If a cheap baking powder is used for a fine cake and the cake turns out a failure there is a waste of costly materials worth more than a whole can of the cheap baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder produces the finest food, and its use therefore, results in an actual saving.

Dramatists of Hugo's Day Often Got More Fame Than Money.

From an incident that Victor Hugo jotted down in his notebook, something like seventy or more years ago, we may conclude that the dramatists of that day more often received fame than any more material consideration as a reward for their work. And not infrequently even fame was withheld "Monsieur Santy." Hugo wrote in November, 1844, "is a former secretary of Thiers. He has written a tragedy called 'Count Egmond;' it is very flat. The piece is played; not a cat in the theater and not a sou in the box office. After three performances the tragedy disappears from the repertory of the Odeon. Furious, the author runs to the director. Monsieur Lireux "'Sir,' he cries, 'you have stopped playing my tragedy!' "'Yes,' the director replies "'Why?' "'Because it brings in no money.' "'I am told that the receipts were only 100 francs less than the receipts for Casimir Bonjour's "The Student of Segovia," and you are still playing that.' "'Only 100 francs less!' says Lireux 'That may be true enough But you see, the highest receipts for "The Student of Segovia" were 89 francs.'" —Youth's Companion.

BEAT THE HOUSE OF LORDS.

Olden Time Ladies Who Took the Galleries by Storm.

The English house of lords has never been particularly kind to its fair visitors. Long ago, in the days when duchesses sold their kisses for votes, the house of lords forbade them to enter, and a battle royal ensued between the ladies and the peers

The lord chancellor had sworn that he would not let them in, and the Duchess of Queensberry had sworn that ladies should come in "This being reported," we read in an old diary, "the peers resolved to starve them out An order was made that the doors should not be opened till they had raised their siege."

These amazons now showed themselves qualified for the duty even of foot soldiers They stood there till 5 in the afternoon without either sustenance or intermission, every now and then playing volleys of thumps, kicks and raps against the door with so much violence that the speakers in the house were scarcely heard.

At last by strategy worthy of a general the ladies "all rushed in and placed themselves in the front row of the gallery," where they remained till an hour before midnight, applauding or hissing to their hearts' content.—London Saturday Review.

Origin of the Periwig.

The periwig, which played so important a part in the toilet of a man of fashion during part of the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, owed its origin to Louis XIV. of France. When a little boy (he succeeded to the throne at five years of age) he possessed a profusion of remarkably beautiful waving hair which fell in clustering curls over his shoulders. The courtiers imitated the boy king by having heads of false hair to imitate his natural locks, and when Louis grew up he adopted the periwig himself.

During the reign of William and Mary periwigs were worn in exaggerated dimensions, and the beaux used to comb their wigs in public with special combs of ivory and tortoise shell, which became at last quite indispensable to these fine gentlemen.

Selim the Grim.

Sultan Yawuz Selim (Selim the Grim) is certainly not a pleasant Turkish potentate to recall. When he created his secretary Mohammed grand vizier the poor man had to be bastinadoed into accepting the honor. For "Mayst thou be Selim's vizier!" was a well understood equivalent of the time for "Strike you dead." Selim loved literature, however. The poem which his brother wrote, in the hour's grace granted before he was strangled with every other possible rival to Selim, moved the sultan to tears But it did not save the poet.—London Chronicle.

When You Travel.

Don't wait until you reach the station, a few minutes before it is time for the train to start, before you find out the time for starting, arriving at your destination and the time of connection. Other passengers wish to take the same train and must buy tickets. And don't argue the question of the price of your ticket with the ticket seller The price is settled by the managers and directors of the road If the price is unjust, address a communication to them and stay at home till the price is satisfactory or pay it and keep still.—Exchange.

Mrs. R. A. Poppe and Miss Emily Poppe had tickets to the McCormick concert in San Francisco last Sunday but it was postponed on account of the singer's throat trouble.

MENDEL'S LAW.

Shown In the Crossing of Pure Yellow and Pure Green Peas.

The following beautifully clear summary of the principles of mendelism is due to the Rev. W. Wilks, the famous horticulturist, who developed the Shirley poppy:

If you cross pure yellow and pure green peas either way—it matters not which is seed bearer and which pollen bearer—you will get all yellow seeds. If you sow these hybrid seeds, each will, if it germinates, produce a plant which will bear, say, forty seeds, thirty of which will on the average be yellow and ten green. The green, if sown and sown and sown for countless generations, will always bear green seeds true to the original green parents (barring the always possible intervention of insects).

Not so the thirty yellow. These when sown will on the average produce ten plants bearing all pure yellow seeds, which will be constant and true to the original yellow parent for countless generations. The remaining twenty plants will be impure yellow, each plant producing, on the average, one-quarter of its seeds pure yellow, one-quarter pure green and one-half impure yellow, which last will repeat the process and proportion practically forever.

This is the law of inheritance which is the basis of all the studies of the eugenists and, in fact, of all breeders of animals and plants.—New York World.

Cause of One War.

William the Conqueror lost his life in France through his horse treading on a redhot cinder while he was superintending the burning of Mantes, but few people know the fact which gave rise to the campaign that cost William his life.

During the latter part of his reign he became abnormally stout and consequently the laughingstock of not only his subjects, but his neighbors across the water. One day his contemporary, Philip of France, compared him to a fillet of veal on casters and suggested that he should be exhibited at a prize monarch show. This so enraged William that he straightway made war upon his ridiculer, and the loss of thousands of lives was the result.—London Tit-Bits.

The First Evolutionist.

The first to suggest the transmutation of species among animals was Buffon, about 1750. The eccentric Lord Monboddo was the first to suggest the possible descent of man from the ape, about 1774. In 1813 a Dr. W. C. Wells first proposed to apply the principle of natural selection to the natural history of man, and in 1822 Herbert first asserted the transmutation of species in plants.

Not Complimentary.

Mrs. Black—I don't want to make a scene, but that man over there is staring at me very offensively. Mr. Black—He is, eh? I'll speak to him. Mrs. Black (a few moments later)—Did he apologize? Mr. Black—Y-e-s; he said he was looking for his aunt and thought at first that you were she!

They Avoid Odd Numbers.

The Siamese have a superstitious dislike of odd numbers, and they studiously strive to have in their houses an even number of windows, doors, rooms and cupboards.
